FAIR CROWD HERE MONDAY

Good Run of Cattle, Horses and Mules Considering Extremely Cold Weather.

About 1,200 cattle were on the market of medium quality. Trade was slow, and not a great many were at the pens on account of the extremely cold weather. The best steers on the market sold at 7 cents by weight, but some by the head brought 7½ cents and above; heifers at 6½ to 7 cents; yearlings sold at 6½ to 7 cents; heifers at 6 to 6½ cents; cows at 5 to 5½ cents for the best, ordinary cows selling at 3½ to 4 cents; bulls at 5½ cents. While there were not as many buyers as usual at the pens, still quite a number of cattle sold during the day. We caught a few sales made before noon:

SALES

Ledford & Co. sold 34 about 400-pound heifers to Wm. Highland at $26 per head.

John Baker sold 6 550-pound steers to Everett Wilson at 6 cents.

Ledford & Co. sold 6 500-pound steers to Wm. M. Campbell, of Woodford county, at 6 cents. Mr. Campbell bought two cars or about 50 head of stock in all.

Sam Wheeler sold a yoke of 2,615-pound oxen to M. A. Prewitt at 7 cents.

Sam Keeton sold 20 about 600-pound steers to Rhyborn Bros., of Clark county, at $42 per head.

Geo. Hulsey sold 13 600-pound steers to Tawhee Bowen, of Powell county, at 7 cents.

W. P. Treadway sold 15 650-pound cows to W. P. Whaley, of Paris; 10 at $3.70 and 5 at 4 cents;

7 650-pound heifers at 6½ cents; 6 1,100-pound bulls at 5½ cents, and 2 1,000-pound cows at 5½ cents.

Harry Adams sold 5 600-pound heifers to Hiram Long, of Clark county, at 6 cents.

Sam Keeton sold 2 nice 1,100-pound steers to Dan Welch at $7.40.

Sam Keeton sold 22 500-pound steers to C. C. Cole at 6 ½ cents.

Everett Wilson sold a bunch of 650-pound beefers to Wm. Whaley at 6½ cents.

MULES

About 250 mules were on the market and they were booming. We have not seen as much stir in the trade for months.

A buyer from South Carolina bought 2 cars at from $150 to $200. He bought 34 head from Greenwade & Razer at $150 to $185. They also sold to Thompson & Co., of Lexington, a pair of 1,400 pound mare mules at $525. Another pair was sold to a Paris buyer at $465. It was unusual to see good pairs selling at $400 and higher. Some army horses were sold at $100 to $110.

Call us for a pound of 25¢ coffee. It is guaranteed to please.

BRITTON FORBES SOLD

Mr. James R. Moggan sold last week to Mr. R. E. Moreland, of Lexington, the four-year-old trotting stallion, Britton Forbes, for $1,250.

This horse is considered by good judges to be one of the finest looking individuals ever foaled and Mr. Moreland, who is an expert, will show him the coming season.

Alex Carpenter, charged with forgery, and Allie Stamper, charged with stealing a quantity of whisky by breaking into a box car escaped from jail at Morehead one night last week by sawing out the bars of a window.

MERCHANTS CONGRATULATE US

Upon Article Urging the People to Promptly Settle Their January Accounts.

Last week we had an article urging the people to promptly settle with the merchants and quite a number have called our office and congratulated us upon the article. We were struck with the following editorial from the Lexington Leader, of last Saturday, which we reproduce:

Pay-Up Idea Becoming Widely Popular.

About a year ago The Leader started a loan campaign to induce people to pay their January bills early, and with good results.

The merchants said their collections were better than they had ever known them to be so early in the year. It was found that much of the delay in settling January and July bills was not due so much to the inability to pay as it was to the tendency of many debtors to neglect their duty to those who had accommodated them during the year.

The Memphis Commercial-Appeal has been making a survey of the "pay-up" movement throughout the country and makes the following observations:

"The Business Men's Association of Flushing, N. Y., is working on a plan to make the first seven days in February 'pay-up week' for the community. Not only new debts, but those of long standing, so long that some of them are 'outlawed,' are to be objects of the campaign.

"The first step in this movement was the issuing by the association of circulars setting forth the details of the plan. And these circulars were capped with this sentence in large red letters that refused to be overlooked:

"Man is dust, and dust settles. Be a man."

"Under this in less glaring type followed: 'Pay-up week—Feb. 1 to 7. Live and let live.'

"The campaigners are making a direct appeal to conscience and the innate sense of honesty. A man who has enjoyed a benefit and has not paid the legitimate and agreed price is a defaulter to both his own better nature and to his obligation of honesty. This pay-up week is a call to his memory and a summons to his conscience.

"Last year Flushing tried a similar plan of settlement, but unfortunately got embroiled in a lawsuit with a man whose name was put down in a list of delinquents. Whether the man owed a debt, or whether he sued because there was no law to legalize the publishing of his name is not stated. But the suit broke up the operators of the association. This year, however, no such blunder will be committed, for the committee is on its guard, and the whole business association is hoping, with great enthusiasm, for a complete success.

"Other towns in the same state and several in New Jersey are watching the result in Flushing with the purpose of adopting it if it is successful. Lexington, Ky., has asked for a copy of all plans and specifications.

"To punctilious people it seems strange that men and women should need a reminder to pay a just debt. They do not understand the mental or moral condition that allows a person to put off paying for something that has been acquired on a credit—a trust to their honesty and gentility by the vendor. But there are many people who are incidentally forgetful of such obligations;

CIRCUIT COURT NOW IN SESSION

Judge Wm. A. Young Compliments County Officials for Enforcing Liquor Laws.

Circuit Judge Wm. A. Young opened the January term of the Montgomery Circuit Court Monday morning with the most powerful, masterly and comprehensive instructions to the Grand Jury it has ever been the writers privilege to hear.

He insisted that any violations of the liquor laws be rigidly investigated and paid a high compliment to the county officials for the splendid manner in which they had performed their duties under that law.

He also said he wanted the violators of the gambling laws indicted and stated that he intended to see that this evil was eradicated.

He dwelt at length upon the evils of whisky and gambling, and said that nearly every crime was traceable to them and that during his term of office he intended to fight those two great evils for the protection of our young men, stating that should it become necessary, he would empanel a special grand jury for the purpose.

Judge Young said that during his campaign for the judgeship he had promised the people that the laws should be enforced and that it was his intention, ambition and purpose to show them that he was sincere in this promise and to prove to those who honored him with their confidence and suffrage that their trust had not been misplaced.

In the stand he has taken for law enforcement he deserves the support of every loyal citizen and we take this opportunity of offering the columns of this paper to assist him in this laudable undertaking.

Court News.

There are eighteen equity cases and twenty-six common law cases besides eighty-four equity and twenty common law cases that were continued, to be tried. There are fifty-nine Commonwealth cases, but most of them are old cases that have been continued for some time.

The grand jury is made up of the others who deliberately stave off the settlement, never stopping to consider the possible plight of the man who does the selling and gives them the credit.

"If not really dishonest in the end these men are guilty of a selfishness that is thoroughly discreditable.

"Look around and see how many doctors, who have allayed pain, are kept waiting for their money while their own bills continue to run up;

how many grocers have to carry an account over for several turns of the ledger pages; how many seamstresses and washerwomen are "put off" for petty reasons from receiving their small pay. How about the plain-sewing woman who called four times—walking two miles each time —before she was finally paid the $2.25 that was her due, and for which the inexorable rent man was dueling her?

"It is this sort of dilatory habit that pay-up week is intended to break up. If Flushing is successful in her movement she will set an example to the whole country, and she will have accomplished a reform that will rival in results the work of professional reformers. For a whole community to join in such a task shows a spirit of brotherhood that should insure success, particularly with the biggest business club in the town leading in the movement."

MRS. ELIZABETH RIGGS DIES IN COUNTY

Mrs. Elizabeth Riggs, wife of James Riggs, of the Grassy Lick neighborhood, died suddenly Saturday evening at her home. Mrs.

Riggs had been a sufferer from diabetes for a number of years, but had been attending to her household duties, and worked in her kitchen up to noon Saturday. She complained of feeling badly about noon and went to bed, growing gradually worse until death came in a few hours. Mrs. Riggs' home before her marriage was in Indiana, and she is survived by several sisters. Her husband also survives her. Mrs. Riggs was 69 years old, and had resided near Grassy Lick for over thirty years, having been a member of the Methodist church at that place during that time.

She was one of the best women that ever lived in Montgomery county and was always happiest when doing some church work, or assisting those in sickness and distrress. So this life has passed into the joy of her Lord, the memory of her life must prove a perpetual inspiration.

THREE-FIFTHS OF WHISKY IN U. S. IS IN KENTUCKY

Kentucky holds within her warehouses practically three-fifths of the bonded spirits and whisky in the United States and manufactures in her distilleries practically seven-tenths of all the whisky made in the United States, according to estimates prepared Saturday by Revenue Collector Ben Marshall, of the Seventh district.

ADDRESSES STUDENTS

President M. B. Adams, of Georgetown College, addressed the students of the High School last Tuesday. His subject was "The Magic of the Wind," which he discussed in such clear, logical terms that the close attention of all his hearers was held for almost an hour and was thoroughly pleasing to the student body.

HIS RECOMMENDATIONS

A gentleman advertised for a boy and nearly fifty came to see him. Out of the whole number he chose one and dismissed the rest.

"I should like to know," said a friend, "why you picked out that boy, who had not a recommendation."

"You are mistaken," said the gentleman; "he had a great many. He wiped his feet when he came in and closed the door after him, showing that he was careful."

"He gave his seat instantly to an elderly person, showing that he was thoughtful and kind. He took off his cap, and answered my questions promptly, showing that he was gentlemanly."

"He picked up a book I had purposely laid on the floor and replaced it on the table; and he waited quietly for his turn instead of pushing and crowding, showing that he was honorable and orderly."

"When I talked to him I noticed that his clothes were brushed, and his hair in order.

"Don't you call these little things recommendations? I do, and I would give more for what I can tell about a boy by using my eyes than for all the others can bring."

PROF. REYNOLDS LEAVES

Prof. Bruce Reynolds, who has been leading the orchestra at the Paramount and Tabb theatres here for several months, has resigned his position and returned to his home in Lexington. Prof. Reynolds will return here each week to teach a class which has been organized, and will probably continue to assist in the training of the choir at the Christian church.

RULES FOR FIGHTING GRIPPE

To escape the gripe avoid crowds; keep away from persons who cough and sneeze. Don't ride when you have only a short distance to go. Walk. Get plenty of sleep, with windows open. Walk a mile every day in the open air. If you get it keep by yourself as much as possible. If you feel ill go to bed and stay there. Send for a reliable doctor. Cover your face when sneezing and don't expectorate in public. See that your eating and drinking utensils are washed separately from those of the rest of the family. Don't take the patent gripe remedies.

Speak softly, step carefully, act wisely, and you may die happy. And once you are dead you will know more than the rest of us.

Wesh'd Worry! The Social Scale, my dear, is where they Weigh Money.

A TALK ON "COMPETITION"

What do you know about the subject of "Competition"? Is there anything left for you to learn? Is it true that "competition is the life of trade"? Let us see.

A merchant in a certain town has no competition. He has everything his own way. He thinks he has the people right where he wants them and that they will have to go to him or go without.

He runs along nicely for a time and then begins to get envious. You notice that his floor needs sweeping, the windows could stand soap and water, dust collects on the goods and the counters, and cobwebs are seen in the corners.

Soon he thinks he ought to make more money with less work. He pushes prices up a cent or two and his pocketbook gets fatter. That looks good to him and he shoves the price up again.

He doesn't take the trouble to study his customers, their needs, and the conditions that prevail, because he has no competition. His store gets dingier and less inviting, and it lacks that homelike appearance of welcome when his customers call.

It time the customers begin to get tired, for they feel that they are being stung. Some turn to the mail order man, while others go miles out of their way to reach another town. They want something for their money.

Soon the merchant notices a shrinkage and wakes up. He makes desperate efforts to entice his customers back to him. But it is useless. They have had enough.

This merchant's business has been irreparably damaged by his indifference, neglect and greed, caused by the lack of competition.

But there is another side to this picture—one that is brighter and is seldom turned to the wall.

Where competition exists there is life, and energy, and brightness, and where these things are the people will go.

Competition brings to the surface and into use the best that is in every man, where otherwise these qualifications would often lie dormant and without avail. And these qualifications, when brought into play, attract and draw and hold the allegiance of the people.

The public asks no more than a fair return for its money, and if there is not sufficient competition in the home town to insure this then they will look elsewhere.

No man can expect to secure and hold the trade of any class of people just because he is himself. He may look good to himself, but if his goods are of proper quality and the price is right they will discount his personality a hundred per cent.

And competition forces every man to keep the right kind of goods and make the right kind of prices, and it is mainly quality and price that keeps the trade in the home town.

The more competition you find in a town the cleaner and brighter the stores will be, and the better the displays, and the more attractive the price. There is more spell life, and life is always appealing to the people.

It is competition that has developed and broadened our religious institutions, and our railway systems, and the thousand and one enterprises that are making this the greatest commercial nation of the globe. It is the outlet and overflow of unbounded energy and ingenuity superinduced solely by necessity and competition.

To compete successfully with an adversary a merchant must know his people, and anticipate their desires, and meet them half way in every step they take. The people can be won, but they can not be bought.

The most successful merchants the world has ever produced are consistent and persistent users of advertising space in their local papers. They advertise because they know the people demand it and insist upon having what they demand.

The local merchant who uses the advertising columns of his home paper, keeps the goods the people want, and makes his prices right, need have no fear of competition. It will make him, as it has made others before him.

But failure to advertise when competition is in the field is the best and most effective means of sending the buyer to the other fellow.

DIES IN FLORIDA

From the Umatilla, Florida, News we clip the following regarding the death of a former Mt. Sterling woman, and sister-in-law of Dr. A. B. Stoops, of this city, who is spending the winter in Umatilla with his wife:

The death of Mrs. Walter Stoops, of Umatilla, Fla., which occurred on December 28, came as a shock to all of the community. For some time Mrs. Stoops had not been feeling well, in fact since her return from Virginia, in September. About ten days before her death she was confined to her bed and suffered greatly. The end came very suddenly and even before many knew she was ill. The funeral service, which was conducted by her pastor, Rev. John A. Wood, was very impressive and showed the high esteem in which Mrs. Stoops was held by the people of Umatilla. The service was conducted at Glendale cemetery, where she was laid away.

Many were the floral offerings brought by friends and placed upon the grave. Mrs. Stoops had lived in Umatilla for many years and was very active in the work of the Presbyterian church, of which she was a member. She was a kind neighbor and friend, and those who knew her will miss her presence in our midst. She leaves a husband, son and daughter.

Another week's sins to answer for.

THE NEED OF HOPE

At the beginning of the year every normal human being looks forward with hope—hope for himself and his career, for his family, for his friends. At this time, perhaps more than at any other period of the year, his aspiration approximates the "hope" of John Ruskin's definition: "The recognition, by true Foresight, of better things to be reached hereafter, whether by ourselves, or others; necessarily issuing in the straight-forward and undisappointable effort to advance, according to our proper power, the gaining of them." In the spirit of that hope each one of us girds himself for the race before him.

But the moment when we turn our thoughts from the little personal world that we live into the world that, in widening circles, makes up the community, the nation, and the race, and ask ourselves: "Have we here any true foresight by which to gain recognition of better things to come?" many of us are at a standstill. If ever we had, or thought we had, hopes for the future in those fields, they have been shaken by the events of the past year and a half. "You have not so much intelligence of it (hope)," Ruskin declared to the people of his day and generation, "as to be able to form one clear idea of what you would like our country to become." Much to our amazement we are now discovering that he was speaking to us as well.

At this moment the outstanding fact is that in certain matters vitally related to our national welfare, even to our national existence, we differ widely in opinion. We assert that we are loyal to our country, but what is the ideal to which we give our loyalty? It may be clear to us, and yet be too pitifully ignoble to stand for the end and aim of a great nation; or it may be large and generous, but vague and wholly lacking in that element of "true foresight" upon which Ruskin insists.

If at any stage in our personal lives we have found ourselves baffled and alarmed in the presence of the unexpected, we have felt that our greatest need was the need of hope—of a vision of the "better things" for which we should strive. Putting large things for small, may we not now say the same of ourselves as a people? If during the next twelve months we shall make real progress in working out a clear idea of what we should like our country to become, the year 1916 will be a truly memorable in our history.—Youth's Companion.

Did you ever see a sealawag who didn't consider himself a bright, brainy and shining example for his fellow men?

Between the war and the automobile the unhappy horse is kept continually sidestepping sudden death.

Good advice is a valuable stock in trade, provided we make use of it ourselves before passing it along.

SOUTHERN DRUG MERCHANT MAKES UNUSUAL STATEMENT

Great Business Losses Due to Neglect

W. WITHERS MILLER

President of the Polk-Miller Drug Company, Richmond, Va., is authority for the following extraordinary statement:

"I estimate that the business men of this country could increase their efficiency fully ten per cent by taking an occasional laxative and not neglecting the bowels as most of them do."

He also said that if the Department of Commerce in Washington would present each business man in the country with a box of Rexall Orderlies, it would be of great benefit to the national welfare. Rexall Orderlies are prompt in action, pleasant to take and never gripe, can be used by men, women or children, and are just the thing for toning up sluggish livers.

WILL YOU BE MISSED?

Some of these days you, who are reading this article, are going to die and pass on to your reward—whatever that reward may be.

But will you leave a void behind?

Will you be missed?

The Creator has ordained that man must carve out his own career in this world, and when he journeys to the great unknown he leaves behind him a record founded upon his own acts.

You may leave behind you a wife, or children, or other dependents. As you deal by them in life, so will their grief be gauged and tempered at your death.

Will they miss you?

In this town you have friends, and business associates, and perhaps many acquaintances. They know you as you are, as you have been for these many years. They have judged you living, and they will judge you dead.

Will they miss you?

In the banks, and the stores, and the offices, and out upon the farms are people who have known you in the past and who know you today. As you have been, so are you known to them now.

Will they miss you?

In the house of darkened windows, where sweet toned music soothes the tired brain and the minister tells of the ways of a better life, are many people who know you for acts and your deeds, for that which you have performed or have left undone.

Will they miss you?

In our homes are many little children who know you, who have passed you on the streets, who, perchance, may have been greeted with a kindly smile or with a frown. They will remember you.

But will they miss you?

Even your faithful animals or pets know you as you are and as you have been to them.

Will they miss you?

There is no place you may go, no point of the compass to which you may turn, but what people have known you or will know you, and by all of these you will be judged when you have passed away.

As you shape your career in life, so do you write the record by which you will be known after death.

Your family, your associates, your acquaintances, even your dumb brutes will remember you after you have passed on.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce

JUDGE JOHN W. RILEY, OF ROWAN COUNTY

as a Democratic candidate for Congress in this, the Ninth Congressional District, at the August primary, 1916.

CAMPAIGN PLEDGES

In renewing his campaign promises to the people and announcing from the bench, in his instructions to the grand jury, that those promises would be his future rule of action, Judge Young has given expression to the best thought and sentiment of the day. Time was and few of us are so young as not to be able to remember it, when campaign promises were not taken seriously by either the people or the candidate and the fact that many officers now do observe them after election and the people are holding their officials to a more strict accountability, speaks well for the ever growing sentiment in favor of law and order. This course makes for peace and happiness in the community and behind every officer who endeavors to do his full duty will always be found the best element of our citizenship.

If Governor Stanley sticks to his announced intention not to permit any bill to become a law, calling for an appropriation without providing a means for raising the necessary funds, much money will be saved to the taxpayers. The old habit of creating enormous debts without providing a means of payment ought to stop.

One member of the present Legislature drew a distinction worth considering when he said he favored "Votes for Ladies," but opposed "Votes for Women."

SQUARE DANCE

An old-fashioned country dance, participated in by twenty couples of his city and county was given at King's Hall Thursday evening, and the dance was one of the most enjoyable of the season. Music was furnished by Wright Bros., and the dance was called by Robert Howell and Fisher Mark and was a most enjoyable affair.

MARRY HERE LAST WEEK

Mrs. Gertrude Hinkle, of Little Rock, Bourbon county, and Mr. J. L. Henry, of this county, were married at the home of Mr. W. H. Henry, on Winn street, last Wednesday, Rev. B. W. Trimble officiating. They will reside at Little Rock, where the groom is engaged as a mechanic. They were accompanied to this city by Messrs. Charlie Hopkins and Turner Reid.

Another week's sins to answer for.

-Skating- Trimble's Rink

TUESDAYS, FRIDAYS AND SATURDAYS

AFTERNOON AND NIGHT

Starting Friday Afternoon of This Week

The Rink has been attractively refinished by painting the woodwork and tinting the walls and the floor space for skaters greatly increased by tearing out the stage.

New ball bearing skates of the latest improved model for rink use have been installed and an electric piano will play all the latest and most popular airs and in volume sufficient to be heard above the din of the skaters.

The afternoon sessions will cater especially to Ladies and Children and expert skaters will be employed to assist all new beginners.

Fast skating will not be tolerated and the best of order will be maintained so you need not fear to trust your children with us.

Your patronage respectfully solicited.

MAXINE ELLIOTT WILKERSON DIES AFTER OPERATION

Little Maxine Elliott Wilkerson, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Wilkerson, who was taken to a Lexington hospital last Wednesday evening for an operation, died in that city early Thursday morning. The little girl stood the operation well and the physicians thought she had a good chance but death resulted from a rush of blood to her head.

The word flew over our city as on the wings of wind. Wherever it touched it left sorrow, and the expressions of sympathy for the bereaved ones were many and from the heart.

Bright, happy and cheerful, Maxine carried sunshine with her wherever she went. She had always a smile and a pleasant word for her friends. Her death comes as a dark shadow to her friends and to her relatives who loved her so dearly.

During her brief school days in our city her sweet face and winsome ways won the hearts of both teacher and pupils. When they heard of her death her classmates with their teacher came to the saddened home bringing, in token of loving remembrance, rare white flowers, emblems of the pure and gentle spirit, now safe with Him who "carries the lambs in His bosom."

Death is a hard master. He would take from us our brightest and best, but he cannot ever mar memory. It will serve as a balm to our wounded hearts.

Funeral services were conducted at St. Patrick's church by Rev. E. B. Rohrer with burial in Machpelah cemetery, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The Advocate joins friends in extending sympathy.

THE SKATING RINK

One of the most popular amusements enjoyed by grown-ups as well as children is the skating rink. Messrs. Redmond & Tipton have ordered new ball bearing skates, have refinished the interior and installed an electric piano in Trimble's Hall and will open a skating rink there Thursday afternoon. It is splendid recreation as well as healthful exercise.

A CORRECTION

We stated last week that Mr. Wm. Highland had purchased a Ford touring car. In getting this item our reporter misunderstood the name as it was Mr. William Hiler who purchased the car instead of Mr. Highland.

THE SICK

Mrs. Josh Owings, Sr., condition remains about the same.

Mr. Havens Brunner has been quite sick for the past week with bronchitis.

Mr. Clarence William has been confined to his home for the past few days with a severe cold. The condition of Mrs. Allie G. Ratliff is so far improved that she is now out of danger and her recovery is assured.

Mr. E. Shields Cunningham, one of the most prominent farmers and stockmen in this county, is seriously ill at his home near Thomson's Station.

Mrs. Wm. Messer returned Sunday from Olive Hill where she had been called to the bedside of her father Mr. James Bunker, who is in an extremely critical condition.

Mrs. Emma Mungown who has been in Louisville for several weeks under the care of a specialist, is getting along nicely. This will be pleasing news to her many friends.

It is reported that Mr. John W. White, who is at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Mims, at Morristown, Tenn., is dangerously ill. Mr. White has been an invalid for several years. His many friends hope for his recovery.

WHAT MORE IMPORTANT JOB CAN WE TACKLE?

In the call to an informal dinner and conference held in Grand Rapids, Mich., last week, to "consider what part of men of large industrial interests shall have in the campaign for state-wide prohibition," emphasis was laid on the benefits experienced from closing the saloons in certain cities of the state. "Wherever prohibition has been in effect," says the call, "good results have been obtained. The directors of Lansing's board of commerce, which includes twenty of the industrial leaders of that city, unanimously passed a resolution recently endorsing prohibition as it is now in force in our capital city. Merchants tell us that their business has greatly improved in Flint, Pontiac, Lansing, Kalamazoo and Battle Creek by these centers going dry. Most of the prominent papers of the state have refused to publish liquor advertisements of any kind."

"We have plenty to do attending to our own business," reads the call, "but surely this is a part of our own business. If it is going to improve the conditions of the men in our employ, increase the dividends of our stockholders and cleanse the social life of our city and state what more important job can we tackle?"

A sane and logical conclusion and one which is being reached by great industrial leaders everywhere!—Exchange.

Notice.

All persons having claims against the estate of Geo. W. Denton, deceased, will present same, properly proven, to E. W. Senff, our Attorney, or to

J. P. HIGHLAND and
L. H. PEED,
(29-3t) Administrators.

BIRTHS

County Clerk Keller Greene is receiving congratulations upon the arrival at his home Saturday morning of a son. He has been named Keller Priest, Jr. Before her marriage Mrs. Greene was Miss Louise Morris.

Born to the wife of Mr. James H. Jones, of Louisville, Monday, January 10th, a son. The little fellow lived but a few hours. Mr. Jones formerly lived in this city and has many friends who will sympathize with him in his loss.

QUALIFY AS ADMINISTRATORS

Mrs. Geo. W. Denton having waived her right to qualify as the personal representative of her late husband, her two sons-in-law, Messrs. J. P. Highland and L. H. Peed have been appointed Administrators by the Montgomery County Court.

That Mr. Denton was a fine business man is evidenced by the fact that he left an estate estimated at approximately $60,000, consisting chiefly in fine farming lands, which will go to his widow and two daughters, Mrs. J. P. Highland and Mrs. L. H. Peed, under the law.

County Attorney E. W. Senff has been retained as the legal advisor of the Administrators in the winding up of the estate.

About First Class Carriage Work

We do all kind of carriage repairing, rubber tiring and painting. Take your horse to a blacksmith shop where they are best prepared to do that kind of work. For the same reason take your vehicle to an carriage shop where the workmen do nothing but carriage work. We do all kinds of top repairing. Make curtains, in fact any thing your top needs, "Buggy or Auto." Prices reasonable.

It takes three weeks to give a vehicle a first class course of painting so don't wait until spring weather before you put your buggy in paint shop. Work done by first class painter. We do all kinds of carriage repairing, rubber tiring, top work. If you bring your work to us it will be done by carriage mechanics with carriage material, because this is our special business.

J. W. Stephens,
(29-4t) High Street.

JUDGE YOUNG UPHELD

Last week the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of the Montgomery Circuit Court in the case of the Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. Bush Marcoffsky, charged with selling liquor in local option territory. It will be reenforced that Marcoffsky was released because sixty days had not elapsed from the legal recording of the certificate of the contest board. Attorney John A. Judy represented the defendant, while Attorney Jno. G. Winn assisted the representatives of the Commonwealth.

Card of Thanks
To the kind friends and neighbors who so loyally stood by us in our dark hour, we take this method of thanking them and our most earnest prayer is, that they too may meet with the same willing kindness and gentleness that was shown our dear dead one when the inevitable shall come. Especially do we wish to thank Dr. Johnson for his kindness and faithfulness.

Mrs. Geo. Denton and Daughter.

NEW COMPANY BUYS THE OLYMPIAN SPRINGS

Olympian Springs, the famous summer and health resort in Bell county, has been acquired by a foreign syndicate, which promises to set the place in order and believes in its future, according to the agreement, Arthur P. Brown, of Americus, Ga., and Charles H. Shuler, of Port Republic, Va., have taken over the company at a consideration not disclosed, and agree to put it on a firm financial basis during the coming summer. An important item of their agreement is to take all proper precautions to protect the rights of the original signers of the bonds. They agree, among other things, to place $12,500 insurance on the property, which they already have done, and to assume three remaining bonds, improve the property by the installation of a heating plant for twenty rooms and the construction of a swimming pool of salt water for bathing.

The old hotel is to be remodeled into a sanitarium to be kept open throughout the year. The springs have had numerous owners, and had been formerly declared bankrupt.

Judge Young has been Judge of this district for something over a year, having been appointed to fill the unexpired term of his brother, Hon. Allie W. Young, who resigned.

During his term of office he has made quite a reputation for the soundness of his decisions as well as for the prompt and efficient manner in which he dispatches business in his court.

HON. W. C. HAMILTON, OF MT. STERLING, KY.

Commonwealth's Attorney of this district, who began his duties on Monday, succeeding Hon. W. Bridges White. Mr. Hamilton has been City Attorney for several years and is a young man of ability and untiring energy and will make a capable official.

THE MAN WHO FAILS

The man who fails is the sort of a chap

Who is always looking around for a snap;

Who neglects his work to regard the clock;

Who never misses a chance to knock. He is grouchy and slow when work begins;

When it's time to quit, he jokes and grins.

He's always as busy as busy can be

When he thinks the boss is around to see.

He believes that a "pull" is the only way
By which he can draw bigger pay;
And he sulks and growls when he sees his plan
Upset by the "push" of another man.

He's on the job when he draws his pay;
That done, he soldiers his time away;
While the men who tackle their jobs with vim
Keep pushing and climbing ahead of him.

For the man who fails has himself to blame.

If he wastes his chances and misses his aim;

He'd win if he'd use his hands and wits;

The man who fails is the man who quits.

AFTER GRIPPE

Vinol Restored Mr. Martin's Strength

Wapakoneta, Ohio.—"I am a farmer by occupation, and the grippe left me with a bad cough and a nervous, weak, run-down condition, and I could not seem to get anything to do me any good until I took Vinol which built me up, and my cough and nervousness are all gone, and I can truly say Vinol is all that is claimed for it."—JAMES MARTIN.

Vinol is a constitutional remedy for all weak, nervous and run-down conditions of men, women and children, and for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Mount Sterling Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Mount Sterling readers.

Mrs. Mary F. Henson, 21 Strothers St., Mt. Sterling, says: "My health was very poor and I doctor-ed but in vain. I was almost helpless. I had nervous spells, headaches and my sight was poor. I often became dizzy and had to catch hold of something for support. For several months my body was so badly swollen that I could hardly bend. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Dr. Duncanson's Drug Store. The relief they brought me was almost instant and I continued using them until I was well."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER,

Mrs. Henson said: "What I said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills before, still holds good. Doan's Kidney Pills do all they are claimed to do."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Henson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv. (29-2t)

THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW

We of today often admire the knowledge displayed by our friends and our neighbors, and occasionally we may entertain a slight conception of that which we ourselves possess.

But we are not prone to speak of or to admit of those things that we don't know.

For instance—

You don't know when the war will end.

You don't know which side will be the victors.

You don't know what conditions will prevail in Europe after it is ended. You may surmise, but you don't know.

You don't know what effect it will have on this country when Europe gets down to business again.

You don't know whether the end of this war will mark the beginning of a world peace, or whether it is but the forerunner of a greater and more devastating conflict which will be waged between the old world and the new—between a combination of the old world and the new—between a combination of European nations on the one side, and North, Central and South America on the other.

You don't know, in the event of such a war, whether the Americans would continue to be free and self-governed countries, or whether they would become mere overseas possessions of the kings and emperors of the old world. You may pooh pooh, and swell out your chest, and let the eagle scream, but you don't know.

You don't know what Congress will do in the matter of preparedness for this country. You don't know whether it will do anything at all or not—for, truth to tell, Congress is all muddled up and don't know itself, for it don't what you think or what you know.

Fact is, brother, we don't imagine any of us, how much of anything about this phase of our national existence, for we have been too busy grubbing for dollars to give much heed to the present or future welfare of our country.

And, too, we don't know what the penalty of our indifference and neglect is going to be.

Now do we?

THE FARMER TO THE RESCUE

It is the unprotected American farmer who has rescued the United States from the worst effects of the war abroad, and who, while feeding our own people, has been able to turn the tide of foreign exchange at the most critical moment in our financial history.

It was this preliminary work, this prepared work, that gave a breathing spell to our industries and industrial institutions and financial institutions, and enabled the manufacturers to follow in the wake of the American farmer and find a market abroad for manufactured products.

The American farmer has not been fully rewarded for this service. Notwithstanding the fact that prices of wheat and corn and meat have advanced in the final markets, the advance in the primal markets has not corresponded to these figures. We do not mean to say that the farmers who raise grain and meat have not had better prices in the past two years than before; they have. They are entitled to better prices, and they are entitled to more than they are getting. They are not being enriched "beyond the dreams of avarice." They are not increasing their business 100 per cent. as the clearing house of New York is. They are not occupied night and day in counting the profits, as the bankers of New York are. They are going about their preparations for a new crop with a strength and faith that is admirable.

II.

The Southern farmers were prostrated a year ago. Now they are erect, confident and conquering. The Southern railroads at last are feeling the benefit of the change and a new light rests upon all Southern industries.

The Boston Transcript, reviewing this service, says that American agriculture could meet the demands of a titanic conflict, though "at times our farm industry seems scarcely able to meet the demands of peace."

Always able to meet the demands of peace. Unprotected and unsubsidized, and subject to all of the influences of competition, they have still gone on, year by year, notwithstanding the drift to town, increasing the production of food crops.

The trouble is the men who live in town have insisted that the farmer sell in a free trade market and buy in a protected market; with the result that much agriculture has been unprofitable. When the area of unprofitable agriculture increases, there will be a decline in agricultural production, all special please to the contrary. The Transcript continues:

ing machines, shoe machines, sugar mill machinery, windmills, all of which enter into farm life very closely, and it ought to be possible for the American farmer to buy these materials and all other materials as cheaply as their competitors abroad are supplied by American manufacturers.

Furthermore, during these same ten months of 1915, we have exported of iron and steel 2,819,000 tons, against 1,291,000 tons the year before, to be sold in the open markets of the world.

Yet these same manufacturers will insist that the American farmer ought not to have the benefit of competition; that the farmer ought to permit these manufacturers to name the American price as well as the foreign price. They contend that the American farmer has no right to complain if his price is a little higher than that of the foreigner, as it is needed in order that the manufacturers may extend their commerce to South America, South Africa, Europe, Asia, Oceanica and the isles of the sea. It is a one-sided proposition, and must fall. The way to prosperity is through the open doors of all nations swinging inward and outward under equal propulsion.

III.

Agricultural prosperity is not to be determined by the "resolute zeal" to face great responsibilities. It is to be determined by the individual activity of each farmer himself, and his plans for this year and next year and hereafter, and the plans of an intelligent, far-sighted man of business, and the question is a question of profit and loss.

The way to stimulate these activities is to remove those extra burdens that the manufacturers and merchants seeking foreign markets have been imposing upon the American farmer access to the cheapest markets in the world.

For illustration: We exported, during the ten months of the past fiscal year, 107 million dollars' worth of machinery. That machinery goes into the foreign markets, the competitive markets, without the aid of a tariff. That total is made up of adding machines, cash registers, cotton gins, cream separators, electric locomotives, gas engines, laundry machinery, lawn mowers, pumps, refrigerators, sawing machines, shoe machines, sugar mill machinery, windmills, all of which enter into farm life very closely, and it ought to be possible for the American farmer to buy these materials and all other materials as cheaply as their competitors abroad are supplied by American manufacturers.

When all the world seems kind of wrong
And things ain't goin' right,
And when you've got the blue so bad,
You'd most give up the fight.

Your cheerful friend comes down the street;

His features seem to shine;
He greets you with these words:

"By George,
Old chap, you're lookin' fine!"

You've simply got to tone up then,

No matter how you feel;

The world takes on a different look;

A smile begins to steal

Across your beaming countenance;

The very air is wine;

You pass on with the knowledge that

"By George, you're lookin' fine!"

You soon forget your aches un-pains;

It puts you back in tune;

If there's any better tonic,

It would be earth's greatest boon—

The friend who slaps you on the back

With gusto half divine,

And says to you, "By George, old chap,

You're looking simply fine!"

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.
